Client requests access and permissions via SDK and Login Dialog User authenticates and approves permissions Access token is returned to client